The meeting commenced by Nick Yoner introducing our quest speakers from Sask Energy Marketing. Shawn Quinton began by providing a brief history about Last Mountain lake as it relates to the services they have provided and continue to provide to the numerous communities adjacent to and nearby the lake.

He discussed the current projects under way and the implication of this to our Hamlet and the need for them to provide a fair, comprehensive look for all, including such communities as Siltou, Bulyea, and Strasbourg. Costs to serve and capacity issues were also raised. Approximate costs included $660 from Sask Energy plus $3500 per service per customer for a total of $4160. Indicated a minimum number were required for sign up suggesting 50% to 60% of new customers from all community need to be committed.

Spring Bay or Colesdale currently have no capacity. Timing of installation up to community however would not be able to happen this year.

Sask. Energy will finance via a billing up to 5 years assuming 25 % down. They would suggest the savings between gas and electricity will pay for the monthly costs. Conversion plan for water heater may be financed through monthly billing.
